Hi Abigail,

At this point, all of your access codes and PINs will have expired. What I am going to do is reset your account, which will send you another email with instructions and a new access code. Please disregard the old email that was sent back in December. This also resets your PIN at the same time, so when it asks for the code from your administrator, you will use b63ec

If you run into any trouble, please call me. I find it much easier to walk through the set up process by phone than by email.

Thanks,

Emily Kraft

Good morning, Emily.

I was expecting to receive a pin number by snail mail but have not received one yet. Will those still be coming or did I miss something?

Thanks,
